

WALLKILL VALLEY LAND TRUST

Spring Wildflower Walk on Joppenbergh Mountain

As more of us practice social distancing outdoors, now is the perfect time to also slow down the pace and enjoy the beautiful native spring wildflowers blooming on the forest floor.

Slowing down and exploring the forest floor reveals delicate native ground cover taking advantage of warm, spring sunlight that briefly kisses the ground before overhead tree leaves fully shade the understory. WVLT's Coordinator of Land Stewardship Cara noticed several of her favorites were in bloom on Joppenbergh Mountain.

Click here to learn more!

SUPPORT OPEN SPACE

 FRIEND ON FACEBOOK

 FOLLOW ON INSTAGRAM

 VISIT OUR PAGE